it. That's not going to stop me from taking it tho, I just mar take a smaller dose to start and then slowly work my way up because I've never been allergic to cayenne pepper before. After reading the health benefits of it I'm definitely going to be taking it all my life. If this brand ends up continuing to make me break out then I may try another brand. I also didn't feel the burn that everyone talked about but I'm not deducting stars for that because those were just other people's review opinions. I am deducting one star so far tho because that's weird that I would break out in hives having never been allergic to cayenne before.

I don't get sick

By Deborah Larson on October 10, 2015

I've had problems for YEARS getting sick. I always built into something more and constantly plugged anymore. I have a runny nose. This has definitely been helpful and especially during the cold season.

Helps with lowering my blood pressure!

By Tyra Walters on May 10, 2015
Package Quantity: 1 Verified Purchase

I take this as part of my daily vitamins to help with high blood pressure. If I take it every day, my bp will stay at a nice 120-something/80-something. I do need to eat a little something when I take tho, as it makes me burp cayenne a little.

I haven't been able to find a similar product that has noticed a big improvement in my allergies you definitely should try. It is also supposed to be very good for your heart. I have to remember to take this supplement daily.

Ok I've been taking this product for a while now. Of before. Besides clearing up my sinuses with the cayenne opening the blood vessels. The capsules, the cayenne is apparent. Plus of cayenne being able to help with your blood pressure. It could be a good alternative to other supplements. I take 4-5 pills a day, absolutely

I recommend taking after a meal

You can definitely feel this when you swallow it. I recommend taking after a meal, to soften the burn. If you take it on an empty stomach, you will feel the burn.
